COMO Point Yamu is a luxury resort located at the tip of Cape Yamu overlooking the Andaman Sea. All rooms, suites and villas at COMO Point Yamu have views of the sparkling waters of Phang Nga Bay.

COMO Point Yamu has two dining locations. The Italian restaurant, La Sirena, features a terrace with sweeping views of the bay, while Nahmyaa offers dishes inspired by Southern Thai food. In keeping with COMO's focus on wellbeing, COMO Shambhala Retreat offers holistic, Asian-inspired therapies in its eight treatment rooms.

COMO Point Yamu's location, a peninsula on the coast of Phuket, gives guests the chance to experience the lesser known side of the island. Activities and excursions include private boat trips to the stunning nearby beaches and islands. Sustainability and Community Investment

At COMO Hotels and Resorts, we act as custodians, rather than managers, of each destination. We recognise the privileges and responsibilities of being part of the community and are committed to celebrating local culture, supporting the domestic economy and minimising our impact on the environment.

At COMO Point Yamu, we believe that we can operate most sustainably by partnering with local businesses and producers around Phuket. Many of the Thai design elements you will see in the resort have been handmade by local artisans, using locally-sourced materials, while the ingredients you'll find in all of our dishes have been sourced from local farmers and small-scale producers around Phuket and mainland Thailand. These are supplemented, where possible, with fresh produce from our own kitchen garden.

We seek to reduce our waste and plastic consumption wherever possible. Our water is bottled by partnering a trusted local company to buy reusable glass bottles and sending them back for refilling, allowing us to exceed the World Health Organisation standards for potability. Cooking oil from our kitchens is also collected and converted into biofuel, providing another green initiative for us to take responsibility for the waste we create.
